A journey of Love on a Transplant List.

Synopsis

Robert lives alone surrounded by his sculptures. He is close to his daughter Poppy, but has an unresolved relationship with Hannah from whom he is separated. The family is stunned when Robert is diagnosed with cancer of the liver and six months to live. In the process of physical decline and mental turmoil, Robert meets Maya who comes from a different world. New hope and future possibilities appear when he is put on the transplant list. Robert's passion for Maya intensifies as he confronts the agony and ecstasy of finding the love that has evaded him his entire life, just as his body is about to be taken from him.

He's got three days to find answers whether he wants them or not.

Synopsis

Tailgate is the unnerving story of Luke, a young man who awakens in the boot of a car with vague memories of the night before. Neither he nor the Driver of the car seem to know why he is there, but the Driver, an outwardly cold-hearted contract killer, is not taking any chances.

The Driver's instructions are simple; travel to the location and in three days, kill the man in the boot. But why is Luke in his car and who supplied the orders? Imprisoned with only a slither of light, Luke desperately attempts to gain control by attacking the Driver's conscious. The Driver, however, is running on a frenzied instinct and further instructions given by a mysterious caller. Death seems inescapable until they arrive at their destination and the boot is opened, but is either man actually prepared to face the reality of their situation?
